FRONTLOAD:

" TODAY WE WILL BE WORKING ON ANOTHER GLOBAL BEACON. ONE DIFFERENCE TODAY NEEDS TO BE DISCUSSED. VERY OFTEN YOU BEGIN TO SHAKIE AND YOUR VOICE BEGINS TO QUIVER. THERE IS NOTHING WRONG WITH THIS BEHAVIOR. HOWEVER, SO THAT IT CAN BE CONTROLLED, IF IT OCCURS AGAIN YOU WILL HEAR ME STATE "RE-FOCUS". THIS WILL BE YOUR SIGNAL TO STOP REPEAT STOP REPORTING, REACQUIRE THE SITE AND TO FIX THE IMAGES IN YOUR MIND. YOU WILL THEN HEAR ME STATE "CONTINUE" AT WHICH TIME YOU CAN CONTINUE TO REPORT. Remember now, when I STATE "RE-FOCUS" STOP REPORTING AND RE-FOCUS YOUR ATTENTION ON THE SITE. When I say continue you can begin reporting again. "

NOTES:

- ① NO inclemencies stated or known
- ② Rainy day. Source has just completed 30 mile trip to work.

2. ( ) The target was the Eiffel Tower located at the end of the Champs Elysee in Paris, France. This masterpiece of wrought iron technology was built in 1889 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the French Revolution. The designer was Alexandre Gustav Eiffel used over 12,000 separate pre-fabricated components to erect the tower. The tower is visible, literally, from every corner of this famous capitol. It weighs over 7,000 tons, is 1056 feet tall and is set in seven foot of concrete buried deep within the ground. An elevator, installed later, takes tourist three-fourths of the way to the top where a lovely, (but somewhat expensive) glassed in restaurant is located. A full set of stairs leading from the ground to the top is also available for the more daring.

3. ( ) Source's description of the site did not closely correlate with many of the major gestalts of this area, e.g., the structure, its location in a bustling city, height, metallic construction, etc. Source did report on the concept of a tall structure and the impression of triangles but little else in Source's session could be directly related to the major gestalt of the tower. Some of Source's descriptions may have had relevance if one were to extend the site area to include the French Parliament, "men sitting at a table judging, making decisions", or Notre Dame, "Blessings, something holy", or the Folies Bergere, "dancing, costumes, feathers", etc, etc., however, even if these could be positively correlated it would still represent unacceptable behavior in reporting since the target was the tower and not all of Paris, (regardless of how fascinating the "City of Lights" may be to the viewer).
